Getting Outdoors and Enjoying Nature

To be outside with warm breezes and fresh air makes us happy. The benefits of getting outside also include being good for our bodies, our minds and for our social health. Let us count some reasons why we should spend more time outdoors through all of the four seasons.

It makes us happy
Breathing good fresh air and taking part in an activity, no matter how big or small, will put a smile on our face and will help us stay positive.

It makes us healthy
Natural light provides us with Vitamin D. This nutrient can help prevent cancer, heart attacks, obesity, diabetes and inflammation. It strengthens our immune system and bones and helps fight osteoporosis and depression.

It allows us to take a break
Getting away from the television and computer is not a bad thing. Oftentimes, using technology makes us stationary. Getting outside and away from technology forces us to stand, walk and exercise, which means healthier lives.

It is a wonderful way to spend quality time with others
Social interaction enriches our lives and doing it outside enhances that quality time especially if we are engaged with others while doing an activity.

It makes our pets happy
Most animals thoroughly enjoy being outside. Spending time with our pets outdoors is said to be good for decreasing blood pressure and cholesterol levels.

So the next time you are feeling overwhelmed or sad, remember to look no further than the great outdoors. It is easy, inexpensive and brings you a great many benefits for mind, body and soul.

CSSC is busy planning many outdoor activities in the near future. Stay informed about our activities by reading our newsletters and checking our website at www.colonieseniors.org. We hope to see you at some of our activities.
Message from the Executive Director

Happy April!
April 1  April Fool’s Day and Major League Baseball Opening Day
April 4  Easter
April 11 National Pet Day
April 14 National Gardening Day
April 15 Tax Day (Changed this year to May 17, 2021)
April 22 Earth Day

On April 5, my husband of thirty-two years, Joe, turns sixty. I cannot believe it. Time has flown. It seems like only yesterday that we met while both working at The Century House on Route 9 in Latham. I was in graduate school waitressing on the weekends and Joe was one of the restaurant’s managers, in essence my boss. I was not the Italian girl his mother hoped for, but that being said, I hit it off well with his parents from the get-go. In fact, our dads had worked together long before Joe and I had ever met. As I have mentioned previously, saying “yes” to Joe’s marriage proposal was the best decision I have ever made.

Anyone who knows me knows my world begins and ends with Joe. I consider us a true partnership, a mutually affirming relationship. We are each other’s cheerleaders. Good times, joyous times, bad times, terrible times, we are there for each other. Three kids, three homes, countless pets and many international houseguests, we have experienced many great chapters together.

As I reflect back, time is one gift that we are all given equally. The only variable is how much time we each have. This reasoning alone should be enough to make every second count.

“Laugh when you can, apologize when you should, and let go of what you cannot change. Life is too short to be anything but happy.”
– 518 Great Spreading Positivity & Kindness

Be well and get outside!

For the Love of Backyard Birds
Join CSSC as we sponsor a birdhouse-decorating contest this month. With the warmer weather upon us, let us celebrate our backyard friends by creating beautiful original birdhouses for them to live in. CSSC will provide a small wooden birdhouse with the intent that they will be used as a canvas. Participants will have approximately three weeks to decorate their creation understanding that the birdhouse has to keep its original purpose of housing birds. Upon their return to CSSC, a panel of judges will choose the most unique, the most beautiful and the most welcoming of the birdhouses entered. Fabulous prizes and bragging rights will be awarded to the winners.

Birdhouses will be distributed from The Beltrone Living Center on Thursday, April 22 (Earth Day), and will need to be returned by Thursday, May 13. There is no fee to participate but the number of participants will be limited and we ask that only individuals aged fifty-five and older take part. Members of the Northeastern Woodworkers Association have graciously agreed to build the birdhouses for this competition.

For additional information and to sign up, please call Diane at 518-459-2857, ext. 305.

A Woman of Distinction – Edna Sparks

Edna Sparks and her husband Barry have lived at King Thiel Senior Community since April 2020. Prior to that, they were residents of Sheehy Manor for about ten years. Born April 8, 1931, in Roanoke Rapids/Gaston Lake, North Carolina, Edna was one of eleven children, four boys and seven girls. Edna was the seventh child of Martha and William Underdue. Edna’s mother passed away when she was eleven years of age and Edna took on the responsibility of caring for her youngest brother Livingston, whom she refers to as Leo.

At the age of sixteen, Edna’s older brother Thomas, who had moved to Albany years previously and was visiting the family in North Carolina during the summer, advocated at the time that she travel back to New York with him. Thomas’ best friend, Barry, was thinking about settling down and suggested that he meet his younger sister Edna. Edna and Barry hit it off but had to wait to get married since Edna was only sixteen and Barry was seventeen. At the time, a couple had to be at least eighteen years of age to get married in New York State. The young couple married on Edna’s eighteenth birthday, April 8, 1949, and they will celebrate their seventy-second anniversary this month.

Edna gave birth to seven children; actually raising eight upon the adoption of a niece. The early family years were spent in the Arbor Hill section of Albany where she and her husband owned a dry-cleaning business called Rite Cleaners. Edna explained that Barry previously had been working for a man pressing clothes and the owner, thinking about retiring, offered Barry the opportunity to purchase the business. The original Rite Cleaners was located on the corner of Second and Swan Streets in Albany. During those early years in Arbor Hill, the business, family home, children’s school and all essential businesses (which were mostly family owned as well) were all in the same neighborhood. Edna commented how she literally could keep an eye on the house, the business and the children at school from the same vantage point on the block. Their family home on Second Street was famous for good food, fun times and a door that was always unlocked welcoming visitors all the time.

Edna and Barry grew their dry-cleaning business to seven stores, which were located all over the city. Edna managed various stores, doing all the tailoring and alterations. She and Barry worked together for over thirty years, and then the business and the family home moved to the Town of Colonie, where they ran the business, now called Wolf Road Cleaners, for another twenty years while living on Ulenski Drive.

Upon retiring and closing their business in 1999, Barry drove for the Hampton Inn, also located on Ulenski Drive, for thirteen years. Edna began assisting a neighbor with a business entitled Time-Out-Kids and ultimately sewed over one thousand adorable dolls with the furthest traveling to heaven, according to Edna, with one of her creations being placed in a casket with a woman who had passed away after receiving the doll as a Christmas gift from her husband.

When asked what advice she would give, Edna commented, “Be kind and loving. God has blessed me with loving and spirit. There is something for everyone and everyone has a position. I believe in the Baptist Faith. I surprise myself sometimes. Coming from not having anything to having so much. Sometimes I don’t feel ninety; it is the Grace of God.” October 30, 2015, was declared “Edna and Barry Sparks Day” by Mayor Kathy Sheehan in honor of their service to the community for fifty years. The local church community also honored Edna on the same day as the “Seasoned Saint of the Year” for her dedication to serving God and others. She is a Lifetime Member and a “Mother” of Bethany Baptist Church, which is across the street from where the family business was for its first thirty years in Arbor Hill. She has served the community through her ministry work at Bethany serving on various committees such as Youth Group, Deaconess Board, and now Mother of the Church. Additionally, the Capital District Senior Issues Forum honored Edna in 2016.

Edna loves to cook, bake and feed anyone who stops by. In addition, Edna loves baseball! Her favorite team is the New York Mets. She enjoyed a trip to Cooperstown in 2018 to watch her grandson play.

Edna and Barry have eight grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren. We are thrilled to have Edna and Barry as part of our CSSC community.

January 1981 – the first Board of Directors meeting was held. Ann Marie Sheehy was selected as the first CSSC Board President. Ms. Sheehy served from 1981 to 1994.
Edmund Steffler was born in Watervliet, New York, on April 9, 1921, to Michael Stefanowicz and Sophie Miezwa who originally emigrated from Poland to Hazelton, Pennsylvania. In 1939, Ed graduated from Watervliet High School and entered service with the 105th Infantry, 27th Division, on October 15, 1940.

Ed bravely served in the United States, Hawaii, and the Island of Tinian with the Army Air Corps B-29 Group and was honorably discharged with the rank of Captain in November 1945. Ed then entered Siena College and earned a B.B.A. in Accounting in 1949, followed by a lengthy career in business and finance.

Ed was married to Frances Markham Steffler for forty-nine years until her death on March 18, 1997, and resided in Latham, New York, until his move to The Beltrone Living Center in 2009. He is the father of Judy Berkery, who passed away in 2006, Debbie Steffler, and Larry Steffler. Ed has three grandchildren, Kyrie Berkery, Stefan Chesbro Jr., and Matt Chesbro, five great-grandchildren, many nieces, nephews, and extended family.

Ed was employed by Farm Credit Association, Equitable Life Insurance Company, and spent thirty years as Treasurer of Farm Family Insurance Company until his retirement on January 1, 1984. He has been active in the community and a member of the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Colonie Elks, and Our Lady of Assumption Church where he served as Eucharistic Minister and Usher.

Ed’s lifelong interest and enjoyment of music began as a child. Besides playing locally with different music groups, he served as a drummer in both the National Guard and the United States Army Air Corps bands. Ed belonged to the Musicians’ Union Local 13 in Troy and played professionally for many years. He was an original drummer with the Rymanowski Brothers Orchestra that started in the 1940s and now tunes in to Siena Radio WVCR FM 88.3 to hear next generation musicians, Gerry and Dennis Rymanowski, who honor Ed, their dad, and those who paved the rich heritage of a lifetime love of music for all to enjoy.

In addition to a love of music, Ed is an avid golfer and member of the Colonie Golf Course. He now enjoys the game on TV from the comfort of his living room at The Beltrone Living Center.

Ed is cherished for his integrity, goodness, and boundless compassion. His uniquely positive attitude and optimism are rooted in one hundred years of goodness, love, and dedication to family, country, and community; a life well lived that brings joy and strength to all who know him.

Happy Birthday Ed!
Dreaming of a Good Night’s Sleep?
By Kevin B. Costello, M.D.

It’s often said that older people don’t need as much sleep, but in fact a good night’s sleep is just as important to your health no matter your age. However, using medications to aid with sleep, as almost one in three older Americans do, can bring health hazards too. Some prescription sleep aids can double the risk of falling, and over-the-counter drugs for sleep that contain diphenhydramine, an antihistamine that causes drowsiness, can cause dry mouth, blurred vision, constipation, confusion, and difficulty emptying the bladder of urine. Sleeping medicines may increase the ease of falling asleep and the amount of time spent in sleep, but that induced sleep may not be as restorative as natural sleep.

Among the most common causes of poor sleep are:
- Medications that interfere with sleep including stimulants, diuretics (“water pills”), steroids like prednisone, and some antidepressant medications
- Beverages containing caffeine or alcohol taken too near bedtime
- Illnesses associated with high adrenaline levels and difficulty breathing such as congestive heart failure and chronic obstructive lung disease
- Pain of any cause
- Grief, depression, anxiety, dementia
- Low physical activity
- Sleep disorders such as sleep apnea, restless legs syndrome
- Uncomfortable or noisy sleep environment
- Poor sleep habits

Before seeing your doctor about difficulty sleeping, it is helpful to keep a diary of your sleep habits and experiences:
- How active are you during the day? Do any of your health conditions interfere with physical activity? Do you nap during the day?
- What time do you go to bed? Do you sleep in a bed, or somewhere else? How long after turning in do you fall asleep? Do you wake up during the night? How often? Why?
- Do any of the factors in the list of causes above apply to you?

And be sure to bring all of your medications, including over-the-counter medications and supplements to your appointment. Many sleep problems improve by stopping medications rather than starting new ones, and when emotional issues or poor sleep habits are at play, cognitive behavioral therapy with a clinical psychologist has been shown to be highly effective. One of the few good things to come of the COVID-19 pandemic has been the increased availability of such therapy in the comfort of your own home over the phone or Internet, as such services are now covered by insurance.
