The Benefits of Volunteering

It was on an extended holiday break from college that through volunteering I came across an opportunity that would lead to my career path. I was working on a degree in a field that I had no desire for and I needed a change. The break was not long enough for a paying job, but what I learned through volunteering in a local hospital’s rehabilitation department was of much more value.

After making the degree change, I completed my education in the field of occupational therapy. I entered the workforce and here we are, twenty something years later. Through my career, I have held different roles, and the one that I believe had the most impact is of a Volunteer Coordinator. When interviewing volunteer applicants, I have always inquired, “what do you love to do?” or “what special talent do you have?” Being open about this information will help in making the right connection between volunteer and organization.

As an AmeriCorps Senior Volunteer through CSSC, you have the opportunity to serve with an organization located in Albany, Rensselaer or Schenectady County. We have partnered with over eighty non-profit organizations and we strive to connect the right person with the right organization. In addition, we provide support throughout the relationship, with educational opportunities and recognition events.

Have you considered volunteering? There are numerous benefits and I would like to share just a few here.

1. Volunteering provides a meaning of self-worth. For those recent retirees, no longer going into the office, completing your tasks, you may feel lost and doubt your meaning. This is an opportunity to share your expertise and skills with a community organization.

2. Reduces risk of Alzheimer’s disease. Some research has shown that people who volunteer may be at a lower risk of dementia.

3. Boosts your self-esteem. As teens are trying to find their way, volunteering can build confidence and develop their self-esteem.

4. You strengthen your community and your social network when you volunteer, according to the Corporation for National and Community Service. You make connections with the people you are helping, and you cultivate friendships with other volunteers.

5. Build new relationships. After our year of lockdown, volunteering can lead you to life-enriching interactions with others of similar interests.

So as our communities continue to open and as you, your family and friends seek ways to be involved, please consider becoming a CSSC volunteer or an AmeriCorps Senior Volunteer through RSVP, sponsored by Colonie Senior Service Centers, Inc.

Message from the Executive Director

Happy July!
July 4 – Independence Day
July 11 – Cheer Up the Lonely Day
July 14 – Bastille Day

Past, Present and Future
Optimism is considered both a personality trait and a product of one's environment. Being optimistic has benefits for your health and productivity. Anyone can learn to be optimistic by finding meaning and purpose in life. For example, CSSC employees truly work with purpose, feeling fulfilled implementing CSSC’s mission by supporting seniors and their families in a wide variety of ways. As an organization, we are looking forward to this fall when we will be holding six of our annual events (two in September, two in October and two in November). Additionally in September, I am initiating a monthly International Diners Club as a way for CSSC to support our locally owned restaurants. We are very busy preparing and reconnecting with corporate sponsors and organizational partners. We have learned from this past year and look forward to the present and the future.

On a personal note for me and my family, we are looking forward to November when our middle child, Catherine, will be getting married to her beloved fiancé Joey. They have gone together for many years and seem to be the perfect match complementing and supporting each other through the years. They are also very organized with almost all of the wedding plans and preparations out of the way. It is truly a blessing to look forward to such a celebration.

Please remember CSSC is here for you and your loved ones. Cultivate an attitude of gratitude and optimism by taking time out every day to focus on the positive from the past, the present and the future.

Be well!
–Diane Conroy-LaCivita

Let’s Have a Conversation – Older Women Leading Extraordinary Lives

With tremendous support from Humanities New York, CSSC will tape a thirty-minute personal interview twice a month with area women representing all walks of life. Their perspectives are real. We will delve into their life story. Some may talk about a long successful career while others may speak on a new exciting hobby or interest. Our aim is to provide hope to women who are aging to show side effects for growth for such things as love, compassion, bravery, humility and creativity.

July’s Conversations are as follows:

Thursday, July 1 – Mary Brizzell, Former Supervisor for the Town of Colonie

Thursday, July 15 – Elizabeth (Libby) Lee, Retired Art Teacher

These conversations may be viewed on CSSC’s Facebook page and YouTube channel any time after 2 p.m. on the day of the event.

There is no fee to view. CSSC has laptops that are available to be loaned out if you are in need of a computer to view. Please call Sharon at 518-459-2857, ext. 302, to sign up for the series.

CSSC’s International Diners Club: For the Love of Food

The best way to experience a culture is through its food. Starting in September, Diane will be setting up a different local international dining experience each month where participants will be immersed in the culture as well as the cuisine of a particular culture and/or country. The group will meet at the restaurant on a set day and time and will be able to order off a limited menu with a set price. CSSC Transportation Services will be available for those who are unable to drive themselves.

September’s restaurant experience will be Yono’s Restaurant located at 25 Chapel Street in Albany on Thursday, September 9, 2021, at 5 p.m. Operating for over thirty years and considered one of the top Indonesian restaurants in the country, Chef Yono and his wife Donna Purnomo’s dishes are often created with a strong Asian, Indonesian in particular, accent featuring local ingredients and artisans when possible. The cost for the meal will be $37 per person.

Space is limited and registration is required. Please call Diane at 518-459-2857, ext. 305, for additional information or to reserve your spot.

Bright Horizons Welcomes Seniors Back

Bright Horizons Adult Day Social Program, a program of Colonie Senior Service Centers, Inc., welcomed back ten seniors on Wednesday, June 2, 2021. Staff and volunteers were there to welcome seniors back to program after closing its doors on March 13, 2020. A meet and greet session was shared by seniors, staff and volunteers. Seniors then participated in Tai Chi and morning activities of their choice. After a delicious lunch with a trivia board question for each member to answer, seniors chose their afternoon activities. Everyone had a wonderful day! Everyone left happy, healthy and, of course, tired.

We are committed to continue our mission of providing adult day services to seniors within the Capital Region.

A Woman of Distinction – Candace (Candy) Deisley

Candy Deisley moved to The Beltrone Living Center on February 1, 2016. Born in Brooklyn on December 2, 1946, to Gilbert and Roberta, Candy grew up the older of two with a younger brother Gilbert, four years her junior. In 1950, the family moved to Levittown in Nassau County, New York, a planned community and considered the first truly mass-produced suburb in the United States for returning World War II veterans. Candy’s father was a New York City firefighter who worked three days on and three days off. Candy explained that her dad dabbled with other jobs on his scheduled days off such as in the import/export business. Her mom was an elementary school principal’s secretary. The family moved to Massapequa in 1960 where she started as a ninth grader at Massapequa High School. Candy shared, “I was in the first graduating class of my high school.” She went on to Wagner College, a small private liberal arts school in Staten Island where she met her future husband John. Candy shared that she sang in the College Choir, which was a touring choir with sixty students that had the opportunity to go across the country twice. She added, “It was an absolute riot. We sang in mostly Lutheran Churches and then we were given those church dinners, Jell-O salad and ham.” Candy graduated with a BS in Elementary Education in 1968 and married John that same year, two weeks before he left for Vietnam. He returned in 1969 and finished his education under the GI Bill graduating from Hofstra University with a BS in computer science in 1971. By this time, Candy had started teaching third grade realizing, “I hated teaching.” She then got a position at the Nassau County Social Services Daycare. It was a big daycare. She was the head teacher in the kindergarten and then four-year-old classroom. She added, “I had four people under me. I started taking kids to the library and became enamored with being a children’s librarian.”

Candy gave birth to two children in the early 1970s, and in 1972, her husband lost his job after a company closure. She explained she had a brand new baby and no income so the young couple decided that John would stay home with the children and she would get a job, which she did as the director of a daycare center. The family moved to Nassau in Rensselaer County where she worked in the Small World Preschool. On her lunch hour, she would visit the Delaware Branch of the Albany Public Library. The children’s librarians there convinced her to get a Master’s Degree in Library Science. It took two years but opened her career to a variety of positions such as the Elementary Librarian at the Poestenkill Library and sixteen years spent at the Albany Public Library. She retired in 1999 and went on to teach Children’s Literature at the College of St. Rose both at the graduate and undergraduate level.

Candy explained that the highlight of her career was in 2000 when she was selected as one of fifteen individuals to serve on the Caldecott Committee, which annually recognizes the preceding year’s most distinguished American picture book for children. She commented, “During that year, I got eight hundred books to review and wound up with four large bookcases filled.”

The committee met in New Orleans and Toronto and she was able to meet and go out to dinner with many of the authors and illustrators. The committee eventually chose author and illustrator Eric Rohmann’s book My Friend Rabbit. The author subsequently presented each committee member with an original watercolor depicting the characters in the book as a token of his appreciation.

Candy’s husband passed away of renal cancer in 2005. They knew for three years that he was dying so they took advantage of that time by traveling to Paris, New Orleans and Los Angeles. John died in hospice at St. Peter’s Hospital a week before Christmas. Candy commented, “The greatest blessing was I was there when he passed.”

In her free time, Candy likes to knit, crochet and read in addition to serving on the “Daughters of the King” and “Ladies Who Lunch” through St. Paul’s Episcopal Church in Albany.

We are thrilled to have Candy as part of our CSSC community.

What Color Is Your Front Door?

We often use colors to express ourselves. Color connects us to our personalities. Many people use color not only inside their homes but also on their front door.

I personally love to see a pop of color on a front door as it builds curb appeal. Before you paint your front door, take a look at the list I provided below. What kind of first impression do you want to send to your neighbors?

- White door – You are clean and organized
- Red Door – Hospitable home
- Orange Door – You are a social butterfly
- Yellow Door – Positive attitude
- Green door – Solid member of your community
- Turquoise Door – You are a romantic dreamer
- Blue Door – Well grounded
- Purple Door – You are a risk taker
- Gray Door – You are indecisive
- Black Door – Order and control

What color is your front door? My front door is red.

Fun and Educational Weekend Outing to Seneca Falls

Plans are under way to spend Wednesday and Thursday, October 6 and 7, discovering many of the sights and sounds of Seneca Falls, the municipality where the women’s rights movement in America was triggered and solidified over one hundred seventy years ago and where the set of It’s a Wonderful Life was supposedly modeled after.

Then on to the Women’s Rights National Historical Park, which includes the Elizabeth Cady Stanton House, the Wesleyan Chapel, and the Women’s Rights National Park Visitors Center. The group will be staying overnight at The Gould Hotel. On Thursday, stops at the National Women’s Hall of Fame and the Saunders (Amish) Country Store are scheduled. There will also be time to explore on your own.

The cost of the outing is $225 for members of THE CENTER and $245 for not-yet-members and includes transportation by Premiere Transportation, overnight accommodations (based on double occupancy), some meals, snacks on the bus, and fees for attractions. Space is limited. Please call Diane at 518-459-2857, ext. 305, to reserve your spot.

THE CENTER at CSSC

Hello from THE CENTER at CSSC! We have been busy reopening and planning for the summer and fall. We all know that many people are tired of being home and are ready for fun and companionship. We are, too! Please know that we are still very committed to the safety of everyone, and so we are requiring vaccinations and masks (for indoor events).

If you are vaccinated and feeling like you are ready to emerge, we think there is something here for you. In July and August, THE CENTER will be offering club games and events, which are free for members, including open studio, bingo, book club, walking club and corn hole.

Our upcoming classes include painting, Tai Chi, yoga and book making.

And, if you are really ready to get out, we hope you will join us for a trip, to either a close-by destination or a place a little farther away. You could join us to learn about the incredible art at the Albany Airport, catch a show at the Curtain Call Theatre or explore the Brimfield Flea Market. By popular demand, we will also do another tour of the Albany Murals.

For those not quite so ready to be in public, we will continue our popular Zoom talks and lectures, with health, food and finances all in the mix.

Whatever place of the journey you are in, we are with you, we are here for you, and we cannot wait to see you again, whether it is in person or on Zoom. Our calendar of events will be in the mailbox of our members soon. If you are not a member and are interested in becoming one, call Caroline at 518-459-2857, ext. 327.

Recently retired? Ready to be involved in your community?

Part-time drivers needed to transport senior citizens in the Colonie area. Small bus, regular driver’s license and a good driving record required. This is a great way to provide a community service and get paid. Contact Danette Groat at 518-459-6064 or email dgroat@colonieseniors.org for more information. EOE.
